Leading With Attitude!

Go to just about any fire station and you'll likely hear someone talking about how it used to be. They talk about the values and work ethic they had when they came on the job, back when the mission was clear and company officer was king. This program will explore how we, as individuals, can help ensure our departments are on track and ways we can truly make a difference in our organization, regardless of rank.

The Leading with Attitude program is a nameless and rankless "gut check" into how we contribute to the fire service. The program offers tangible ways we can improve our job for today and for future generations. The course calls "us" out to be part of the problem, or part of the solution!

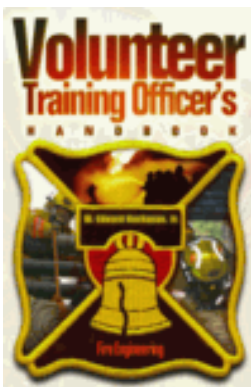

The program will also explore the concept of loyalty alignment. What does it mean to be a good "follower without becoming a "yes-man?" Each of us are empowered to make positive change, but we must accept that responsibility and take charge of our lives!

Structural Tactics with Limited Staffing

Departments respond to fires every day and we are expected to meet a variety of staffing expectations. Everyone from OSHA to the NFPA provide guidance on what staffing levels should be. Unfortunately, many departments can not meet these standards in the real world.

This program examines how departments can determine their real capability and develop tactics based on the people they actually have, rather the people they should have. A variety of tactical issues are explored and how they impact staffing and tactical operations.
